One new school board candidate as local election list is finalized

The filing period for all local election races on the November 2 ballot has closed.

One new candidate took advantage of the deadline extension triggered by an incumbent's decision not to run again for the school board race, and jumped into the race on Aug. 11. Other than that, the tally is the same as last week:

Incumbent mayor Christopher Cabaldon will face a challenge from former mayor and city council member Greg Potnick, a retired peace officer and resident of The Rivers subdivision in the north part of the city. They will compete for a two-year term as West Sacramento mayor.

Candidates for West Sacramento City Council are incumbent Mark Johannessen of Southport, a businessman; along with newcomers Ed Hensley, a retired police sergeant from Southport; and Chris Ledesma, also of Southport, who works in banking and serves on the city planning commission. These three will compete for two seats.

City councilman Wes Beers did not file to run for another four-year term.

A new candidate entered the school board race last week: it was Heather F. Wright, a legislative assistant who lives in Southport. Wright joins incumbent Sandra Vargas, the current school board vice president who lives in The Rivers, along with Adam Menke, an engineer who lives in Southport, and Walt R. Bowman, a retired truck driver and resident of West Capitol Avenue. The four candidates will fight for two available seats. Terms on the school board of Washington Unified School District are for four years.

School board member Matthew Stegman did not file papers to fun for another term.

'On the lamb'

It's not something you see every day in West Sac.

Sheep and shepherds are part of the scene along some of the levees in West Sacramento. They're often used to help keep the brush under control. But last Monday morning, Aug. 9, during rush hour, one of the animals got loose.

"One of the sheep broke free from the flock and was running on the freeway," said Lieutenant Tod Sockman of the West Sacramento Police Department. The sheep went up near the 50/80 split near Enterprise Boulevard.

Sockman further explained during a phone interview and by email:

"One of the officers on the scene was named 'Lamb' -- Officer Lindsey Lamb. Officer Lamb and (Officer Gerry) Barnerkept the sheep from entering into the traffic. . . They ran behind it on the freeway."

"It went up behind Starbucks and the gas station there. But a tree worker made a lasso, and lassoed it on his first try. He'd never done anything like that before."

That lasso artist turned out to be Juan Gomez of Woodland, who fetched a rope from his truck for the trick.

Gomez joined officers Lamb and Barner in helping to load the lamb into an animal control truck. The animal was returned to its shepherd near Marshall Road.

Peace restored.

City moves to put Bakers Square, Lisbon Firehouse on the block

The City of West Sacramento is getting ready to sell a couple of publicly-owned properties. City staff will ask the planning commission on Sept. 2 to okay the listing of the old Lisbon Firehouse at 1517 Lisbon Avenue in the "Bryte" neighborhood, and the former Bakers Square restaurant property at 1235 Harbor Boulevard, just north of U.S. 50.

"This is one of those pro forma actions we have to do," said Mark Zollo, a senior administrative analyst for the city. There are not yet any specific deals on the table for the two properties.

What will become of them?

"For Bakers Square, we think we can get another restaurant in there, although the market isn't very good right now," said Zollo. The city acquired the restaurant after some litigation – the struggling restaurant blamed the city for damaging its viability in the re-design of the U.S. 50/Harbor Boulevard interchange. That construction project is still ongoing.

As for the old Lisbon Firehouse:

"The neighborhood seems to want to return it to residential use," said Zollo. "That will minimize the impacts on traffic and parking. It's zoned for low-density residential. The lot is fairly small, about the size for one house."

The planning commission will be asked to agree that the proposed sales conform with the city's general plan.

Mobile safety wagon

With the help from the city's CERT members (trained volunteers), the West Sacramento Fire Department's Safety Trailer made it to the Holy Cross Festival in West Sacramento on August 7-8.

Over 200 children each day went through the Safety Program.

Second time is not the charm for proposed Liquor Barn

By Steve Marschke
News-Ledger Editor

The city planning commission voted against a proposal to put a "Liquor Barn" store on the former site of a "Blockbuster Video" location. The project's building is in the Safeway Center, along West Capitol Avenue at Jefferson Boulevard.

"They voted it down 6-0," reported City Planner Steve Rikala.

The six who voted it down included a couple who had changed their votes since the issue first came before the commission on July 15, miring itself in a 3-3- tie. In the original vote, commissioners Charles Moore, Jennifer Blackburn and Russ Liebig voted in favor of the store. Members Christopher Ledesma, Ron Morazzini and Beverly Sandeen voted against.

There was little citizen opposition to the store at the time.

When the matter came for a re-hearing on Aug. 5, Blackburn was absent. Moore and Liebig joined the remainder of the commission for a 6-0 vote to deny a conditional use permit for the Liquor Barn.

In the city's other recent liquor store saga, a proposed Aggie Liquor & Deli store remains in limbo. The store is championed by Jaswant Singh for a spot at Jefferson Plaza, near the Eagle Café and the southern intersection of Linden Road and Jefferson Blvd.

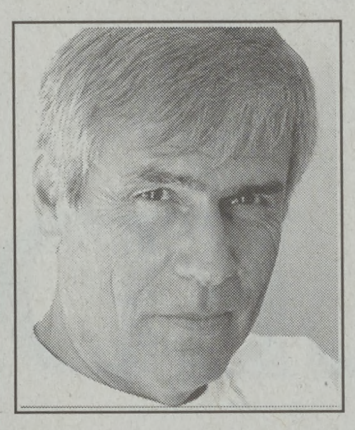
The planning commission unanimously voted against the proposal after an upswell of local opposition. Singh appealed that denial to the city council, but then requested a continuance.

"It still hasn't come back yet," said Rikala.

He said that the store owner and city staff are in discussions, but there is no date set for the Aggie Liquor & Deli proposal to come before the West Sacramento City Council.

College? You don't have to be smart -- just organized

My Back Pages



By Daryl Fisher

When I was informed by my somewhat surprised homeroom teacher that I was actually going to graduate from West Sacramento's James Marshall High School way back in 1965, I didn't have a clue what I wanted to be, so I thought I might as well give college a try, figuring it would be a pretty good place to hang out until a work-related epiphany hit me. So I strolled into my high school counselor's office and proudly announced that I had just decided to become the first college graduate in the history of my family. Unfortunately, my counselor (the one who advised all the kids who had last names from A-G), didn't seem to be quite as thrilled about the idea as I was.

"Mr. Fisher," she tried to explain to me as she looked through my high school transcripts with a grim expression on her face, "now if you would have only showed as much interest in your studies as you did in athletics, going to college might be a possibility for you, but as things stand right now, I'm afraid there are very few institutions of higher learning that would be interested in admitting a student who has amassed the kind of mediocre grades that you have over the past four years."

"Well," I told the obviously over-worked lady who had numerous other students sitting just outside her office waiting to see her, "it's not like I want to go to Stanford or Cal Berkeley or Notre Dame or any place like that. But won't some little college close to home like Sac State take me?"

"I'm afraid you would have to have much better grades in both English and math for Sacramento State to even consider you," she explained. "Didn't you care at all about those classes?"

Look, lady, I wanted to tell my frazzled A-G counselor, the only reason I went to those classes at all was because if I didn't then I wouldn't have been allowed to go to baseball or basketball or track practice on the day I cut them. Plus who's going to ever use algebra and geometry in their real lives, and as for all those torturous, stupid English classes, what, you think I'm going to end up writing my own column in the local newspaper or something someday?

"There is one possibility," the counselor finally said, "although your academic record shows no sign whatsoever that you can even do well there, but California has created a number of junior colleges throughout the state, and all that is required for admittance to one of those is a high school diploma, which you will soon have. But they will probably require you to take extra English and math classes the first few semesters just in order to stay enrolled."

"So where do I sign up?" I enthusiastically asked.

"Okay," said my reluctant counselor, "I will get all the paperwork ready for you, but you will have to do the actual enrolling yourself. And Mr. Fisher, please give this some more thought before you decide to do it. You know, college, even junior college, isn't for everyone, and you might end up a lot happier if you didn't put yourself in a position to fail. There are lots of apprentice and vocational job entrance programs we could discuss if you liked."

"Thanks," I said, "but junior college it is for me!"

So, off to Sacramento City College I went, but instead of standing in those long lines for extra math and English classes, the first thing I signed up for was to be a member of Phi Beta Chi, an off-campus SCC fraternity I was soon to learn would make the fraternity in the movie "Animal House" look tame by comparison. And not only was my new frat house a beautiful old two-story Victorian home in the heart of downtown Sacramento, but there were fraternity/sorority mixers held there most every weekend, and nightly poker games that didn't usually break up until dawn. But the best part of the whole experience was that I was suddenly exposed to all kinds of interesting and unique people who saw the world in ways I hadn't even thought about before. Some had enrolled in college just to stay out of the war that was raging in Vietnam, but others were determined to make SCC a springboard to a much bigger and better academic future. And in time, I learned that there was more to living than just surrounding yourself with like-thinking people and calling it a life, and more importantly, that you didn't have to be smart to go to college, you just needed to get organized and put some effort into it.

Anyway, the reason I bring this all up is because the other day I was approached by a very nice young man claiming to have been one of my students way back when I was substitute teaching at River City High School.

"Don't you remember me, Mr. Fisher?" he asked, thrusting his hand out for me to shake.

"Of course I remember you," I lied, shaking his hand.

"Well, I just wanted to thank you for that little talk you gave me about a decade ago?"

"Talk?" I asked him, not having a clue what he was referring to.

"Well," he said, "it was actually more of a harangue, but it was just the kick in the pants I needed back then. And now look at me, I'm a college graduate and I have a great job at the State working on their computers."

"Congratulations," I said, returning his smile, "but I'm afraid you'll have to refresh my memory a little bit about what I said."

"Well," he said, still smiling, "I really just remember the last part of it, when you told me that if I didn't get my head out of my butt and start taking my studies seriously, I was going to end up on West Capitol Avenue drinking beer out of a brown paper bag and begging for quarters."

"Oh, that little speech," I said.

"You mean you've given it to others?" he asked, looking a little disappointed.

"Oh sure – to each and every one of my own kids over the years – and more than once!"

Instead of standing in those long lines for extra math and English classes, the first thing I signed up for was to be a member of Phi Beta Chi, an off-campus SCC fraternity I was soon to learn would make the fraternity in the movie "Animal House" look tame by comparison.

Re-think that school commute

The region's air quality monitors want parents to think about getting their kids to school by some means other than a car.

"We want to encourage them to consider having their child walk or ride their bicycle, or coordinate a carpool if a school bus isn't an option," said Mat Ehrhardt, executive director of the Yolo Solano Air Quality Management District, in a press release.

Reducing the number of cars going to local schools would mean less emissions from idling cars at school sites, said the District. And children would get good exercise by riding their bikes or walking to school."

"If enough people opt for different modes of transportation, the air will be more healthful for children, including those who regularly walk to school," said Ehrhardt. "If parents must drive their children to school, we recommend they keep (engine) idling at a minimum while dropping their children off."

This summer's cool and breezy weather has helped slow the formation of ozone, said the District. But if temperatures go up, ozone levels will go up and the air will become more unhealthy. That could trigger asthma attacks and other lung problems.

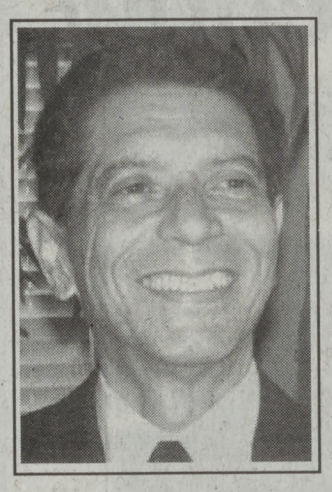
SPORTS INSIDER



By Richard Novoa

The Sacramento Kings have announced their 2010 NBA preseason schedule, which opens on Tuesday, October 5th at ARCO Arena against the Phoenix Suns. The Kings seven-game exhibition schedule is highlighted by two other home games including an Arco Arena appearance by the Los Angeles Clippers on Oct 7th the Golden State Warriors on Oct. 12th.

The Kings will open up the NBA season on October, 27th in Minnesota followed by a visit to New Jersey on Friday, Oct 29th and a back-to-back game in Cleveland on Oct. 30th. The Kings home opener is slated for Monday, November 1st against Toronto and then on Wednesday, November 3rd Kobe Bryant and his Los Angeles Lakers invade the Arco Arena.

Diamond Notes

The Giants (67-52) will need a day off after losing 2 out of 3 games to the first place Padres last weekend and falling behind in the West by 3 ½ games. The Giants will hit the road to battle the Phillies, who are in the Wild Card hunt along with San Francisco, St. Louis and Cincinnati. The Giants will play three in Philadelphia followed by another three game set in St. Louis returning home on August 23rd for another crucial three game series against Dusty Baker and his Reds.

The Giants GM Brian Sabean is playing all his cards going down into the final two months of the season. Sabean is all in, with another last minute acquisition, and he also added three new pitchers to his worked over bull pen. The problem now is their starting pitching staff, which was very solid, is getting pounded especially after Jonathan Sanchez guaranteed a Giants sweep of the first place Padres.

The Giants went shopping again picking up another player outcast in Jose Guillen, who at 34, was released by the Royals for lack of effort and being compared to Milton Bradley, the bad boy of major league baseball.

Guillen, who was batting only .255 but has clubbed 16 home runs and knocked in 62 RBI's is already ranked second and third respectively, on the Giants roster. Remember, the Giants picked up Pat Burrell (.299) last month and he has been a pleasant surprise and currently worked his way into left field and the starting line-up. With the addition of Guillen, who will play right field, the Giants should add some extra power and defense to the line-up especially with Audrey Huff moving back to first base.

The A's (57-59) are now trailing the Rangers by 10 games and didn't fare to well against the Central Division first place Twins either. In their first game at the new Target Center in Minneapolis the A's actually outhit the Twins by a fairly large margin of 14 to five. Yet, they left a season-high-tying 13 runners on base en route to going 2-for-20 with runners in scoring position. Not good!

Anyway, the A's called up Chris Carter to make his Major League debut Monday and he has started all five games in left field since his promotion but he is still searching for his first Major League hit. Carter had raised his his Triple-A average to .262 with 27 homers but is 0-for-13 going into Monday.

The A's will be home during the week against Toronto and Tampa Bay will be Oaktown for a weekend series.

River Cats

The Cats (65-57) still trail the Fresno Grizzlies by only 2 games is which incredible if you consider their return from a long road trip (4-4) and the Oakland A's raiding their roster for players before the September 1st call up.

The A's called up Chris Carter, who is struggling very badly with major league pitching, and third baseman Jeff Larish and shortstop Steve Tollenson. The Cats have had 18 transactions in the last 10 days!

With 24 games remaining in the season the Cats have 16 games at the friendly confines of Raley Field but the key to winning the Pacific South Division will come down to a five-game home series against Fresno starting on Aug. 25-29.

Historically the Gatos have played well at home but this season they are just 28-28. In 2008, the Cats home record was 46-26 and in 2009 they won 49 games while losing only 27. The Grizzlies are leading the series this year (7-4) so the Cats must win at least four out five against the Grizzlies to avoid a losing a head-to-head tie-breaker.

NFL Preseason

The 49ers (0-1) first string looked a bit overwhelmed by Peyton Manning and the Colts in the first quarter of the Niners 37-17 exhibition win over Indy. Manning directed the Colts to a quick 10-0 first quarter lead before sitting out the remainder of the game while the 49ers second unit piled on the points in the second and third quarters.

Alex Smith looked rusty completing 3 of 9 passes for 37 yards before relinquishing the quarterback duties to David Carr and Nate Davis. The Niners offensive was sparked by rookie running back, Anthony Dixon, who stepped in as the second string running back behind Frank Gore. Dixon replaced Glen Coffee who has decided to retire to return to college to pursue his college degree.

Dixon, a sixth round pick from Mississippi State, ranked up 21 carries for 100 yards and a touchdown. He finished his career as the school's all-time leading rusher with 3,994 yards, playing in 48 of 49 career games, and even looked good catching the ball out of the back field.

Da Raiders made the Cowboys pay for their inefficiency, scoring all of their points, two touchdowns and a field goal, in the final 4:58 to pull out a 17-9 victory. Kyle Boller, who was 12 of 21 for 148 yards, finally got Oakland's rally going by driving 80 yards in 13 plays, hitting Nick Miller with a 4-yard touchdown pass. Oakland's new starting quarterback Jason Campbell never came close to scoring on his four drives. He was sacked once and but he didn't have a turnover while converting only one third down play out of six.

GUEST COMMENTARY:

Little learners need to eat right

From First 5 Yolo

It's the beginning of a new school year, and as young students head to preschool and kindergarten, parents can help their children shine in the classroom by preparing healthy meals for breakfast – and for their lunchboxes.

"Proper nutrition plays a key role in a child's ability to learn and do well in school," said Julie Gallelo, executive director of First 5 Yolo. "According to the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention, kids who eat a balanced diet and start the day with a nutritious breakfast have more energy and concentrate better in class."

Parents, caregivers and early-learning educators play a valuable role in providing healthy food choices to children at an early age. To help kids develop lifelong healthy eating habits, First 5 Yolo offers the following tips.

Power up on breakfast: After a good night's sleep, breakfast provides important nutrients that give kids a great start to the day and get them ready to learn. Prepare healthy breakfast choices for your child like oatmeal with low-fat milk, raisins and banana slices, or go berry wild with a low-fat yogurt smoothie made with strawberries and served with scrambled eggs on whole wheat toast.

Make fruits and vegetables a priority: Help your child get the recommended five to nine servings of fruits and vegetables a day by adding lettuce and tomatoes to a sandwich or offering cut-up fruit like apples or oranges with every meal.

Indulge your creative side: Kids love healthy foods that look fun – and taste great! So, be creative with meals. Top a cheese quesadilla with a smiley face using green peas for eyes and carrots for a mouth, or cut sandwiches in triangles and other fun shapes.

Offer healthy snacks: Toddlers and young children should eat frequent, small meals throughout the day. Pack nourishing snacks to provide an energy boost like bite-size fruits and vegetables. Low-salt crackers and cheese slices are also good choices.

Get kids involved: When children help prepare a meal, they're more likely to eat it and try foods they may not have liked before. Ask your child to pick fruits and vegetables with you at the grocery store or local farmers' markets. When preparing meals, let your child tear lettuce for a salad or add veggie toppings to pizza slices.

About First 5 Yolo
Research shows a child's brain develops most dramatically in the first five years and what parents and caregivers do during these years to support their child's growth will have a meaningful impact throughout life. In November 1998, California voters passed a statewide ballot initiative to add a 50-cent-per-pack tax on cigarettes. The funds collected are utilized to fund education, health and childcare programs that promote early childhood development from prenatal through age 5. GUEST COMMENTARY:

'Under attack': fighting an invasive moth species

By Beth Gabor, Yolo County Public Information Officer
& Kristen Dachtler, Woodland High School Summer Intern

Have you seen them? Those little red tags up in the trees in parts of Yolo County, especially in Woodland and Davis? Ever wondered what those are for? Would you be surprised to learn they are there to confuse the boys?

More specifically, they are odorless, colorless, pheromone-infused twist ties designed to confuse the male light brown apple moth (LBAM). These twist ties release synthetic insect pheromones which confuse the male moth's tracking of the female moth's scent. This method is highly specific to targeted moth populations. By disrupting the mating cycle in this way, there are fewer fertile pairings, fewer offspring and hopefully, eradication of the LBAM – a devastating pest to agriculture.

The LBAM is a pest to ornamental plants and agricultural crops. It is native to Australia, but in 2007, the LBAM was spotted in some urban areas of California. It was first found in Alameda County, and since, has been found in 18 California counties. Yolo County currently has detected 20 LBAM. If the LBAM becomes permanently established in California, this pest has the potential to devastate our residential landscapes, natural environments and food systems.

LBAM attack nearly all types of fruit, ornamentals, vegetables and nursery stocks. If it's growing in your garden this summer, it's probably something the LBAM would like. Host plants include California's prized cypress as well as redwoods, oaks and many other varieties commonly found in California's urban and suburban landscaping, public parks and natural environment. The list of agricultural crops that could be damaged by this pest includes grapes, citrus, peaches, plums, nectarines, cherries, apricots and many others. The complete host list contains over 1,000 plant species and more than 250 fruits and vegetables.

LBAM damages plants by destroying young seedlings. Losses in crop production and the cost to control the LBAM in infested areas are estimated to be $160-640 million. Based upon the known climate zones of infested origins, such as Australia, New Zealand and the United Kingdom, it is highly likely that the pest will successfully adapt to California if the infestation is not addressed in short order.

Eradication efforts began in certain parts of Yolo County early this year. The pheromone-infused twist ties have been deployed to numerous trees within a 200-meter radius around all detection sites. On national and statewide levels, the U.S. Department of Agriculture issued a quarantine order with restrictions on interstate shipment of plant material, and the California Department of Food & Agriculture issued a quarantine order restricting intrastate shipment of plant material from counties where light brown apple moth is known to occur.

"Together, we must eradicate LBAM as soon as possible while the population is still small," said Yolo County Agricultural Commissioner John Young. "It's easier to eradicate a few moths, but if they get to be in the hundreds, then that is more difficult. Fortunately, the twist-ties have been shown to be effective with small populations as we currently have in Yolo County. "

For more information on the LBAM visit www.cdfa.ca.gov/lbam.

GO FIGURE! by Linda Thistle

The idea of Go Figure is to arrive at the figures given at the bottom and right-hand columns of the diagram by following the arithmetic signs in the order they are given (that is, from left to right and top to bottom). Use only the numbers below the diagram to complete its blank squares and use each of the nine numbers only once.

COUCH THEATER DVD PREVIEWS BY DNA SMITH

PICKS OF THE WEEK

There aren't any major movie releases this week, but Boy Howdy are there some awesome TV series boxed sets coming out.

"Lost: The Complete Sixth & Final Season"/"Lost: The Complete Collection" (Unrated) — Two huuuuge releases for Losties this week: The final season's boxed set and a massive, goody-laden collection of the complete series.

The Season 6 set is just about what you'd expect: All the episodes, audio commentaries, bloopers, deleted scenes, a couple of supplemental featurettes, plus the much-hyped coda featuring the adventures of Hugo and Ben Linus after the events of the finale as they take on the job of being caretakers of the island.

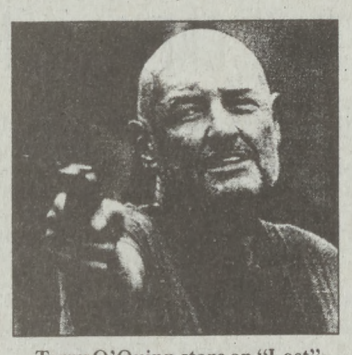
"The Complete Collection" is more than just a boxed set of all six seasons. It's 38 discs (one of which contains all-new never-before-seen content); more than 30 hours of bonus material; plus, a replica of the island, episode guide, an ankh, black light and a playable Senet game with black and white stones.

The packaging of "The Complete Collection" is simply awesome. Of course, Awesome comes at a price, so expect to pony up anywhere from $150 to $230.

"Pawn Stars: Season Two" (Unrated) — Just about everyone has their reality-show guilty pleasure. Some folks get their kicks with the guidos on the "Jersey Shore," but for my money, I'll take Las Vegas and the Harrison clan.

The History Channel's "Pawn Stars" is the perfect storm of kitsch, white-trash drama and High Weirdness. It's like "Antiques Roadshow" made a baby with the gang from "American Chopper."

Every Monday night, a parade of desperate individuals enter the Harrisons' pawn shop. Some have odd or interesting stuff to sell, like an antique barber chair or a rare coin or pinball machine, or vintage Army flamethrower. Others bring in things — like the legendary Taj Mahal Treasure — that make you ask, "Why are these idiots trying to sell this at a pawn shop instead of auctioning it off at Christies?"



Terry O'Quinn stars on "Lost"

It's this bizarre mix of the mundane, odd and outright mind-blowingly ridiculous that makes "Pawn Stars" one of the most entertaining reality shows on TV. The Season Two set contains all 32 episodes and some bonus footage.

The Kitchen Diva BY Angela Shelf Medearis

Campfire Cuisine

Camping! Just the word evokes many feelings. If you already love it, you might fondly remember trips of the past — recreation with friends and family, or quiet time communing with nature. If you're new to it, you might be excited about the mysterious forest or vast ocean vistas you'll see.

A recent survey by the Outdoor Foundation, a non-profit group that promotes outdoor activities, indicates camping popularity rose 7.4 percent in 2008 after a decline the year before. Overnight backpacking grew by 8.5 percent, the group reports.

"People are returning to simpler lifestyles — the 'less is more' ethic," says the foundation's Christine Fanning. "And everyone is searching for vacations that fit with today's economy."

Typically, National Forest campground fees go for $10 to $15 per night. Here are some tips for tent campers courtesy of KOA Kampgrounds:

—New tent? Practice setting it up in the backyard before going on a trip.

—Invest in good sleeping equipment. Choose air mattresses, cots or sleeping bags that will give you adequate rest so you can get the most out of your daytime activities.

—Stay dry:

• Use a ground cloth under your tent as protection from rips and moisture.

• Use the rain fly, even if the sky looks clear.

• To prevent rain from leaking into your tent, apply a seam sealant to the inside and outside of all exposed tent seams.

—Keep your tent clean:

• A whisk broom is handy for sweeping out dirt and leaves.

• Place an indoor/outdoor rug in front of your tent entrance for dirty shoes.

• Bring duct tape for quick repairs of small tears, splintered tent poles and the like.

If you love the great outdoors, but prefer the creature comforts of home, camping also has kept up with the times. You can select high-end campsites featuring lodges that rival an urban hotel, complete with Wi-Fi and concierge services.

One thing that hasn't changed about camping is the joy of a tasty meal prepared on an open fire. These recipes for Campfire Stir-Fry and Pineapple Surprise are quick and easy, and the flavors are enhanced by enjoying the meal in the great outdoors!

CAMPFIRE STIR-FRY

You can use cubes of beef or chicken and your favorite selection of vegetables (including drained canned or frozen vegetables) in this simple recipe.

- 8 chicken or beef sausages
- 6 small new potatoes, thinly sliced
- 2 small summer squashes cut into rounds
- 2 large carrots cut into 2-inch pieces
- 2 cloves garlic, mashed and peeled
- 1 stalk celery, diced
- 1 medium onion, thinly sliced
- 3 tablespoons vegetable oil
- 1 1/2 tablespoons poultry seasoning or Italian seasoning
- 1 teaspoon salt
- 1 teaspoon black pepper

Put all of the ingredients into a 13-by-9-inch baking pan (a disposable aluminum pan works fine) or a large cast-iron skillet. Drizzle the ingredients with the oil. Sprinkle on the seasonings. Mix everything together until coated with the oil and spices. Place over medium coals for 30 to 40 minutes, stirring occasionally, until the sausages are cooked through and the potatoes are tender.

CAMPFIRE PINEAPPLE UPSIDE-DOWN CAKES

- 8 glazed doughnuts (day-old work fine)
- 8 pineapple rings
- 1 stick (8 teaspoons) butter
- 8 Maraschino cherries with syrup
- 8 teaspoons brown sugar

1. Prepare eight (8-inch) squares of aluminum foil (one square per doughnut). Place 1/2 of a pat of butter in the center of the foil. Place 1 pineapple ring on top of the butter and 1 doughnut on top of the pineapple. Add 1 teaspoon of the brown sugar inside each doughnut hole. Add the remaining 1/2 of the pat of butter on top of the brown sugar. Top each doughnut with 1 Maraschino cherry and a teaspoon of the syrup.

2. Bring the sides of foil over the top of the dessert and twist the ends of the foil together to close tightly. Place the doughnut packets on the coolest part of the campfire grill and cook over low heat, 5 to 7 minutes, until the butter and brown sugar have melted.

The Sacramento River registered 4 feet 2 inches U. S. gauge at the S. P. bridge yesterday. This is as low a stage of the river for this time of the year as can be remembered by the oldest settlers. During the summer season the river was seldom lower. This is a great disappointment to the fishermen of this locality who expected a raise some time ago with a consequent run of salmon. There seems to be no salmon in the river now and few if any men are spending any time fishing.

This may be an inducement to several other property owners whose places should be filled to grade. Surface water is liable to cause damage before the winter is over.

THE WASHINGTON IMPROVEMENT CLUB IS ACTIVELY INTERESTED IN TOWN FILLING

GAS RATES WILL BE CLOSELY WATCHED WHEN SUPPLY IS AVAILABLE FOR RESIDENTS OF THE TOWN

At the regular meeting of the Washington Improvement Club last Tuesday evening considerable time was devoted to the question of town filling and the proposal to supply gas through a pipe line leading from the Sacramento Gas Works.

In the matter of townfilling it will be necessary, under the proposed plan, to get the consent of all property owners in the district. For this purpose it was decided that each member of the club would become a missionary in favor of the proposal, asking their neighbors to join this worthy idea.

Many reasons has been advanced in favor of town filling, but that most valid one is the great increase of property values immediately following the filling.

Many people believe that Washington property would be increased in value to equal that prevailing in the western portions of Sacramento.

Lots valued in Washington to-day at about $1500 would certainly climb to at least $4000 and others proportionately.

Then again there would be the added advantage of a quick fall for surface water to the westward. This in itself is no mean advantage, because during winter rains the conditions prevailing on the streets is anything but agreeable.

The only cost to property owners in accomplishing town filling would be that of raising their homes, which would vary between $150 and $250.

In this particular, however, there might be framed a combined contract between the parties in each block whereby a less figure might be secured.

In addition there is the assurance of Sacramento bankers that funds would readily be advanced to property owners at a very reasonable rate of interest with long payments.

The Improvement Club is urging all its members to see their neighbors, explaining these advantages and asking their good will for the proposal.

It should be borne in mind that nothing may be done until the necessity arrives next fall of dredging a boat channel in the river for steamers.

Last fall dredgers were used by the Federal Government to keep a channel clear for navigation, and the sand excavated at that time was simply moved to another portion of the river-bed. Already that sand has been washed back into the holes from which it was taken.

If the Federal Government should use a suction dredger instead of a clamshell dredger the removal of the sand would be permanent if it were pumped outside the levee, thus filling the town and leaving a permanent river channel clear.

The cost to the Federal Government would be about the same, and yet the filling would be done without cost to the taxpayers of Washington.

On these points the members of the Washington Improvement Club intend to enlighten their neighbors and friends with the purpose of accomplishing something that is so badly needed and would be an everlasting benefit.

The objection of one property owner would be just as bad as that of several, but the hope exists that no one would be so blind as to make objection to the improvement.

The club decided to keep strict watch on the rate decided on for gas consumers when the supply is available. It is presumed that by next fall that portion of the pipe line leading to Woodland will be completed as far west as the Yolo Causeway. When completed the supply would be available at Washington and Riverbank.

The question of gas rating it is understood will be left entirely to the Railroad Commission, and a hearing will be granted whereat the consumers as well as the manufacturers will be heard.

At the next meeting of the club it was decided that the disposal of the piano owned by the club and now stored in the Town Hall will be taken up. Several offers have been made for this piano, but the club was reluctant to dispose of it. It is understood that some of the members favored trading the piano for a phonograph.

The next meeting of the club will be on Tuesday, January 20th.

DAVIS BANDITS IN LOCAL POLICE NET

Wednesday morning about 5 a. m. two young men were seen wandering into town from the direction of Davis and were suspected by Dave Barry as being the two who held up the railroad office there the night before.

Barry forced them to throw up their hands at the station on Ann street and was aided by Mike Judge, nightwatchman on the bridge and Harry Van Baaren.

Constable Buckingham was notified and the men were taken to Sacramento where one of the two confessed to the crime.

Subsequently they were returned to Davis for trial. The men gave their names as Charles Wilson and Harry Frank.

They were identified by L. Lauck.

At a point known as "Charlie's," a station on the Sacramento Southern Railroad near Charlie Silva's slaughterhouse south of Sutterville, last Wednesday Charles Cline was badly hurt by the Southern Pacific motor car on its afternoon trip to town.

Cline was out in his auto on a cattle buying trip. Approaching the crossing his view of the track was obscured by the cattle chute. He heard no warning bell or whistle and just as he got on the track the motor hit him, demolishing his auto and badly bruising him.

The motor did not stop, but a Japanese boy jumped off the train to help the injured man. The crew refused to take him to town and a neighbor's auto was requistioned to take Cline to a hospital.

Yesterday Cline was resting easy, but very sore. He is particularly sore at the crew of the train who refused to take him to town after demolishing his auto.

Cline is engaged in slaughtering and uses the Leinberger slaughterhouse for his work. He is well known in this locality and is a reputable gentleman.

BRIDGE OVER THE SACRAMENTO WEIR IS OPEN FOR TRAVEL

The concrete bridge over the Sacramento weir in front of the by-pass is open for travel and is in excellent shape except for the approaches which are still soft and soggy and dangerous for auto travel.

The front levee has been razed at both ends, the dirt having been used to make the above approaches.

Reinforcement of the side levees of the by-pass with concrete facing is done and at the present writing macadam is being hauled to build the roadways on top of those levees.

In a few words the Sacramento weir and by-pass is complete except for the finishing touches which are necessary.

All the front levee which formerly served as a base for the county road will soon be removed.

The gates of the weir are in place and should a flood come alone there would be no danger from overflow to Sacramento, Washington or any place as far south as Courtland.

The weir and by-pass appear to be an eternal protection from flood to the Capital City, and now that completion approaches the wisdom of their construction can be seen.

FORMER SALOON OWNER OF WOODLAND DEAD

Woodland, Jan. 5.—William G. Brunner of this city and known perhaps as well as any other resident, passed away at a hospital in Sacramento last Wednesday, concluding an illness of some months. Deceased was a native of Woodland, being born here February 8, 1879. He was the husband of Mrs. Lolita Brunner, father of Geraldine Brunner and William Brunner, brother of Mrs. Annie Simpson of Sacramento, Mrs. J. B. Riles of Pomona, Los Angeles County; Mrs. C. Roth of Woodland and Mrs. E. M. Clover of Marysville, Yuba County. He was engaged in the saloon business here for many years.

PREPARATIONS FOR ROAD BUILDING ALONG NORTH LEVEE

The several reclamation districts north of Washington as far as Elkhorn are making preparations for the concrete roadway to be built under the county road bond issue.

Fronting the Blauth district brush is being cut to permit dredgers to go to work raising the levee.

All levees will have to be placed at a certain grade before the road is built and this work must be done by the districts. Stakes have been placed by the County Engineer.

This road will make a beautiful ride when the road is completed. For eleven miles it meanders along the west bank of the river and is shaded the greater part of the way.

Fronting several districts no change in grade will be necessary as the existing grade is above the required height.

RIVERBANK INN RAIDED BY SHERIFF, CONSTABLE AND ATTORNEY

"Beware of stool pigeons," is the advice given by Al Pabst of the Riverbank Inn since his place was raided last Sunday by Sheriff Monroe, District Attorney McDonald and Constable Buckingham, aided by a stool pigeon who pretended to be a friend of Pabst even after he was placed under arrest.

In Pabst's premises there was found 2½ gals of whiskey 8 bottles of port wine and four bottles of cider all containing more than ½ of 1 per cent of alcohol.

The stoolie had been watching him for several days and landed him at last.

On Monday he pleaded guilty before Judge Barry and was fined $150 with a suspended sentence of 6 months in jail. He was given till January 15th to dispose of his business.

Pabst gives warning to all saloon owners to sell to no man not well known to them and residents of the locality.

According to a decision of the Superior Court of New York it is not immoral for a woman to smoke cigarettes.

Her husband said it was and asked for a divorce.

Perhaps he had in his mind's eye an affinity that was taking away his morality.
